

French students visit Hautlieu

Six French students from Normandy have been making new friends at Hautlieu School after winning awards for their excellent English results. The pupils from Ecole Lebrun, in Coutance, spent the day with Islanders studying French at A-level. It is hoped that the visit will be the start of regular exchanges between Norman and Jersey schools and that students will become pen pals. Pupils from Hautlieu will soon be going to France to enjoy some French hospitality Picture: JON GUEGAN (00344769)
